

Scat the Cat

Scat the cat was a black cat. Everyone in his family was black.

But Scat the cat was tired of being like everyone else. So he said: "I'm Scat the cat, I'm sassy and fat. I change my colours just like that!" And he snapped his claws. So Scat the cat changed into a cat with changing colours.

He was

as green as the grass

as blue as the sky,

as red as an apple,

as yellow as a lemon,

as orange as an orange

and as brown as a bear.

Scat the cat enjoyed being a cat with changing colours for a few days. But then he got tired. So he said: "I'm Scat the cat, I'm sassy and fat. I change my colours just like that!"

Well, Scat the cat had changed his colours many times. He found out that it wasn't so bad being a black cat. He snapped his claws and he said:

"I'm Scat the cat, I'm sassy and fat. I change my colours just like that!"

And he was happy being black again.

